Deck

Shiner Roofing, Siding and Windows recently completed a project in McLean, Virginia that we would like to show you. On this property we performed a complete deck removal and replacement.

The old, wooden deck was completely removed, the area was cleaned and the debris was hauled away. Our professional design team worked with the homeowner to design a deck that would add value and beauty to the house as well as provide the homeowner with both an aesthetically pleasing and functional outdoor space. The new design consisted of a white Trex Deck with a white Trex Deck Artesian Railing. The final deck size was designed to have a 4'x17' balcony with a 12'x12' extension to the right. The new deck plans were then submitted to Fairfax County for proper permitting and approval.

Our contractors, using new #1 premium grade pressure treated wood installed a new back beam, poured new footings and installed new freestanding support beams. The beams were wrapped with Trex Deck vinyl to blend with the overall appearance of the project. We also installed a new Trex Deck Artesian railing system. We cleaned the area of work related debris and unveiled the finished product to the homeowner.

The finished product – a new, white vinyl Trex Deck, which makes a great maintenance free outdoor entertainment space for any homeowner!
